

DORCHESTER ARGUS-CITIZEN

Fun-for-All at Wainwright Field Day

More than 300 children took part in the annual Mayor's Field Day at Wainwright Park in Dorchester on July 2. Sponsored by the Boston Parks and Recreation Department and the Police Athletic League (PAL), the popular field day included volleyball games, sprints, wheelbarrow races, and dodge-ball. Potato-sack races and pony rides were also featured.

Clowns and magicians enchanted the young and old, and face-painters transformed kids into elves, cartoon characters, and clowns.

Area disc jockey Mike Keeley provided a variety of music ranging from contemporary pop to funk and reggae. Prizes and ribbons were awarded to first place winners in the organized games, and a family cook-out concluded the day of fun.

It's family fun for Jenny and Enid Torres when mother, Tracey Torres, plays at Wainwright Park.

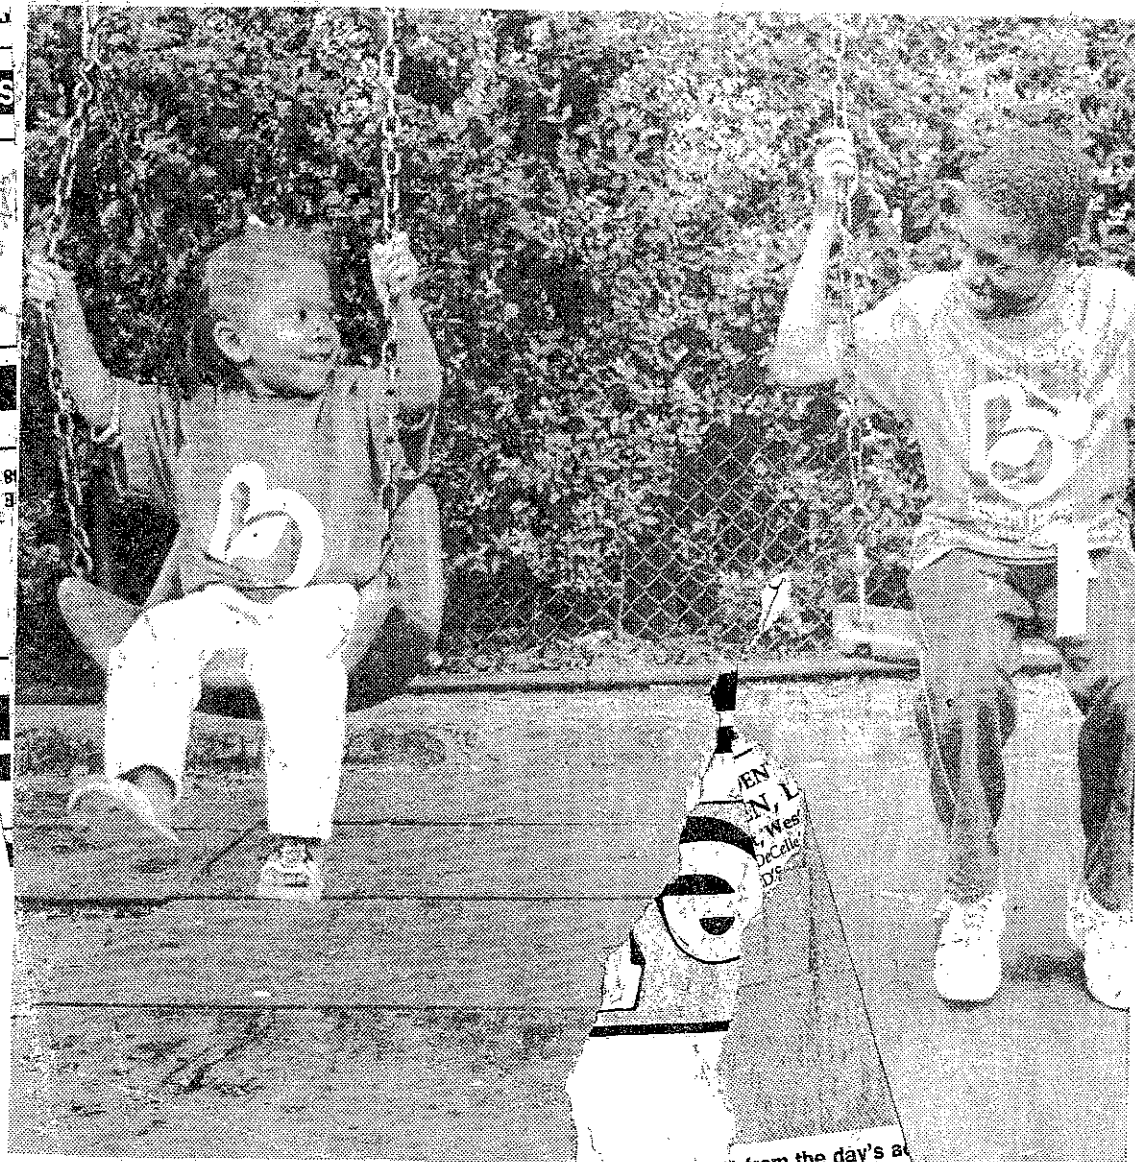

Sean Reddick gets his face painted while friends James Hagerty, erson, Wendy Torres, Ester Aecbe, Jose Burgos, Kancy Burgos, and Caslor Kenvass.

Cindy Loesch and Eric Parson take time o

at from the day's ac
ing swing.