HIDDEN HEROES & SHEROES

Welcome

Tonight we celebrate our 2025 Hidden Heroes and Sheroes.

This annual celebration has recognized more than 276 people doing exceptional work to improve the Codman Square and Four Corners communities. These hidden heroes and sheroes give us hope and inspiration and tonight is our opportunity to learn more about them and share our appreciation for their efforts.

This celebration also raises funds for youth scholarships that are awarded to the high school senior awardees. This tradition began in 1987 by Rev. Dr. Bill Loesch. We honor his legacy with the establishment of the Rev. Dr. Bill Loesch Memorial Scholarship Fund, which prioritizes educational scholarship. This year, we are happy to share that we are providing 4 youth scholarships totaling $8,000.

If you wish to nominate a person or group for November 2026, please submit a nomination form. Applications are received all year long and selections are made by the end of summer.

Let's celebrate!

NEIGHBORHOOD LEADERSHIP AWARD

Seth Daniel

Seth Daniel

Seth Daniel is currently News Editor for the Dorchester Reporter and has been a professional journalist and photographer for more than 30 years, beginning as an apprentice reporter at the Akron (Ohio) Beacon Journal in the 1990s.

Born in rural Missouri, he arrived in Boston in the mid-1990s and has worked since then as a senior reporter, editor, and photographer for more than a dozen community newspapers in Boston neighborhoods and in Revere, Chelsea, Everett, Lynn and Winthrop. He joined the Dorchester Reporter in 2021.

He lives on Athelwold Steet between Codman Square and Four Corners with his wife, Wilel, and two daughters, Camryn and Taryn. His third daughter, Angelica, lives nearby on Seaver Street. He also serves as the secretary of the West of Washington Coalition and volunteers as a governing board member at the OW Holmes K-6 Innovation School in Dorchester. In his spare time he enjoys gardening, youth sports, and hospitality.

NEIGHBORHOOD LEADERSHIP AWARD

Rafael Barruos

Rafael Barruos was born in the Dominican Republic but has lived in Boston since 1985.

He is the Vice President at the Commonwealth Bank, the oldest cooperative bank in Boston, serving the community since 1886. At Commonwealth Bank, he continues the tradition of outstanding service and commitment to customers every day. With over 30 years of banking experience, he continues to show his commitment to helping others with their finances and advancement.

Outside of work, he enjoys playing and watching sports. He also enjoys volunteering with the Greater Four Corners Action Coalition where he works to enhance the livability of the Four Corners community by empowering residents to make their voices heard. He volunteers at each annual celebration, clean-up, and turkey give-away. He shows up by driving the truck to pick up toys, turkeys and supplies; cooks on the grill; and is always available to lend a helping hand.

CIVIC LEADERSHIP AWARD

Richard Scott

Richard Scott was raised and lives in Codman Square. His journey is rooted in values of care, connection, and community, which continue to inspire his work today as he creates opportunities and strengthens his neighborhood. He has also been shaped by mentors who demonstrated the power of leadership and support.

For the past four years, Richard served as Program Coordinator for the BOLD Teens. In this role, he mentored youth on ways to advocate for social, health, and environmental justice issues, guiding them through everyday challenges. He coordinated events like Friday Movie Nights and Playtime in the Park at Dr. Loesch Family Park, which created fun and safe spaces while fostering community pride and connection. Through this work, Richard empowered young people to see themselves as leaders and change makers.

As manager of the Dorchester Winter Farmers Market for the last three years, Richard supports local farmers and small businesses while expanding access to healthy food. Under his leadership, the market thrived with the launch of a coupon program that made nutritious food more accessible and affordable. His ability to connect people also brought partners and resources together, further strengthening the community.

Richard is also the owner of Watch the Crown, a small business focused on empowerment and impact. Through his brand, he creates natural hair products with the mission of inspiring people to drive progress and make a lasting difference.

Grateful for his experiences and the meaningful relationships he has built, Richard remains committed to being a positive force and continues to uplift, inspire, and impact those around him.

CIVIC LEADERSHIP AWARD

The mission of Montserrat Aspirers Inc. MAI is to give aspiring youth the opportunity to gain a competitive edge in this changing society through workshops, academic tutoring, scholarship awards and cultural activities. MAI encourages collaboration among community organizations and promotes self-pride, ethnic and cultural diversity.

MAI was organized in 1974 for charitable community and educational purposes. In an effort to obtain a more visible community presence and to better assist the community, the organization bought the building located at 358 Washington Street, Dorchester MA in 1992. After years of hard work by mostly members and friends the Aspirers Community Center was opened to the public in June 1994. Three years later, the hard work and dedication was once again displayed when the basement was officially opened on Sunday, October 19, 1997.

Since 1988 annual scholarships have been awarded to high school seniors from area schools and in 1991 a tutoring program was established to help community children. In an effort to meet the increasing needs of the inner-city youth and provide a higher level of educational services., MAI's tutorial program was renamed the Henrietta Browne College Preparatory Program in the fall of 2003.

MAI is passionate about its community service and always consider it a critical aspect of the growth of the organization. Over more than 50 years, MAI has offered the following: field trips to educational sites such as colleges and museums; career awareness day workshops; scholarship awards to more than 100 first year college students; hosted civic organizations; tutoring to public and private school students; support for cultural activities and events; and community outreach, training, and development of workforce initiatives

MAI's programs and goals have been formally recognized by the Mayor of Boston, Members of Congress, the Supreme Court, State Representatives, City Councilors, local businesses, members of the community it serves, and other organizations locally and internationally. This organization continues to provide and improve the myriad of services it offers to its community and is grateful to those who have supported MAI over the years. The organization appeals to the private and public sector for support of its fundraising efforts as we continue to be a beacon of light in this community.

YOUTH LEADERSHIP AWARD

Tiffany Cox

Tiffany Cox has grown to become an altruistic leader. Some students see her as the captain of their sports team, a kind person because she is considerate of their feelings, and others say she always provides a helping hand.

She loves to get involved. She is part of Step, Cooking, Student Government, Volunteer, and so more. She has been an active member of the Volleyball, Cheerleading, and Softball teams since the 8th grade and has served as captain of those teams since the 9th grade. Being part of these communities has given her the opportunity to support others, work together, inspire, and lead by example.

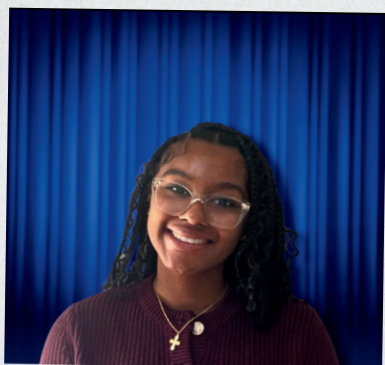

During her first year of Cheer, she was placed front and center, calling out cheers for the team to follow. It was frightening because she had never led a team, but now she learned to lead and work under pressure when being thrown into situations that were not always ideal. She has learned how to interact and connect with people from many backgrounds. Finally, she now knows that things can be frightening at first, but the fear will not last.

After she graduates high school, Tiffany plans to attend college. She hopes to combine her passion for sports, helping the community, and leadership while continuing to grow into the best version of herself. She wants to create a future where she not only successful but also making a difference in the lives of those around her.

YOUTH LEADERSHIP AWARD

Victoria Lamarche-White

Victoria Lamarche-White

Victoria is the oldest of four siblings. She was born in West Roxbury, where she often felt out of place in school until the 6th grade at the age of 13 when she moved to Codman Square and began attending the John D. O'Bryant School. Immersed in a community rich with culture and inclusivity, she started to feel a strong sense of belonging. Surrounded by empowering youth and exposed to popular education, she grew eager to learn—not only about her peers, but also about herself.

With a passion for listening and understanding, she joined the Youth Justice and Power Union (YJPU). Through YJPU, she has organized protests, facilitated community events, and spoken at city hall testimonies alongside other youth and city leaders, advocating for the importance of youth voices in shaping the future.

Beyond YJPU, she has also dedicated four years to Sisters Unchained, an organization that supports girls of color whose parents are or have been incarcerated. As a lead facilitator, she teaches the importance of mental health, essential life skills, and self-empowerment—helping young women work toward the best version of themselves.

These experiences have instilled in her valuable skills that she carries every day: the ability to communicate across diverse audiences, remain calm under pressure, and deeply connect with youth. Her journey has shown her the power of community, advocacy, and education—tools that she will continue to use to uplift others and create meaningful change.

YOUTH LEADERSHIP AWARD

Jayden Martinez

Jayden Martinez is a senior at Catholic Memorial and he is committed to service, leadership and community.

As a proud member of his school's football team, where he plays running back, Jayden has demonstrated dedication both on and off the field. Through school projects, he has helped serve meals to individuals experiencing homelessness and shown compassion and a willingness to uplift those in need. This past February, he took his commitment to service beyond local borders by traveling to Peru, where he helped build a home for a family of four. He also attended his first church retreat with classmates, further strengthening his values of teamwork, faith, and connection.

Jayden Martinez

His efforts have inspired other youth to become more involved in volunteering and community service. He has contributed to the success of several Greater Four Corners Coalition (GFCAC) events, including their backpack giveaways, ensuring children have the supplies they needed for school. He also played a role in the ribbon cutting at the Merrill Street Basketball Court, a project that provided a safe and positive space for youth recreation. Additionally, he was selected to participate in the Jaylen Brown Summer Program, where he developed new skills and strengthened his commitment to leadership.

Through his actions, Jayden has not only given back to his community but he has also created opportunities for his peers to engage in service and growth. His journey reflects resilience, leadership, and a genuine heart for making a difference.

YOUTH LEADERSHIP AWARD

Elijah Peters

Elijah Peters is a rising senior at Edward M. Kennedy Academy for the Health Careers, a college preparatory and vocational high school for Boston students exploring careers in health and health-related professions.

Elijah learned about the importance of a local food system at the Oasis on Ballou farm where he planted garlic and spinach. Elijah has been a youth advocate with the BOLD Teen for three years.

BOLD stands for Breath of Life Dorchester and is a youth-led organization focused on health, environmental and social justice and it works to address health and safety concerns of our community through youth advocacy and policy change. He is active with both the Codman Square Farmers Market and Dorchester Winter Farmers Market working to bring healthy food options to the community.

He is great with engaging youth in the community and educating them on food justice and youth empowerment. During the summer months he helps coordinate Friday movie nights at Dr. Loesch Family Park and to distribute free meals to youth through the Summer Eats program.

He has 5 siblings and is a great big brother. He also enjoys playing sports and video games.

MILLENNIUM AWARD

Chris & Jessica Lowery

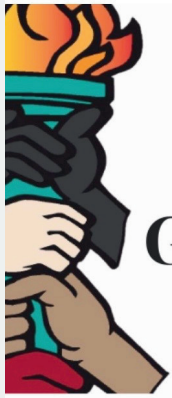

All Dorchester Sports and Leadership (ADSL) is a community-focused organization committed to promoting sportsmanship, leadership, and community engagement. Since its establishment in 1983, ADSL has been a beacon of support for the Dorchester community, fostering personal growth and community development.

Jessica Jones-Lowery, a Boston native, spent years in New York City as an OB/GYN nurse and worked in pediatrics in Queens. After returning to Boston with her husband Chris, and experiencing loss of a child, she became active in community leadership and advocacy for children and families through ADSL, where she developed skills in leadership and mentorship. She now serves as Program Director at All Dorchester Sports & Leadership, working with young people ages .

All Dorchester Sports & Leadership

Chris "Skywalker" Lowery hails from Brooklyn, NY. Before relocating, Chris earned recognition as a distinguished Street Ball player. Following the birth of his son, he redirected his attention towards serving as a positive role model, engaging deeply with youth in Boston's Dorchester community. As the Athletic Director for ADSL, Mr. Lowery not only manages athletic programs but also provides support to partner organizations, particularly with basketball tournaments. He regularly appears at City of Boston events as a DJ and commentator, further demonstrating his commitment to community engagement. His ongoing dedication to fostering positive experiences for local youth has established him as a trusted mentor and advocate within the community.
